

RVFA Charter

1. League Structure

Beginning in the 2025-2026 Season, the RVFA will comprise of 2 divisions, the Premier League and the Championship, with division placement being determined by the results of the previous season. In the scenario of an odd number of clubs in the RVFA, the Premier League will have the larger number of member clubs. On the FPL website, three separate mini-leagues will exist: RVFA Members, RVFA Premier League, and RVFA Championship.

1.1 League Charter Changes

Any member of the RVFA may propose a change to the league charter. Any proposal will be considered by the board, and if deemed fair and viable will be put to a vote for the entire RVFA. Any change to the RVFA must be approved by a majority of clubs, and if approved will take effect in the following season.

1.2 New Member Clubs

When a new club joins the RVFA before the season, they will be added to the Championship division, and this new number of clubs will be used in determining clubs' placement in each division for the upcoming season. If a new club joins the RVFA during an ongoing season, they will be added to the Championship regardless of current division sizes.

1.3 Promotion and Relegation

1.3.1 Table Based Promotion and Relegation

After season results are finalized, the top two clubs in the RVFA Championship table will earn automatic promotion for the following season, and the bottom two clubs in the Premier League will be relegated to the Championship for the following season, barring any new member additions (section 1.2).

1.3.2 Cup Competition Promotion

The winner of the RVFA Championship Cup will earn automatic promotion for the following season. Additionally, the winner of the RVFA Cup will earn a place in the Premier League for the following season. In the event the winner of the RVFA Cup is in the Championship, and they do not earn promotion through the table or Championship Cup, then the next lowest team in the Premier League table will be relegated for the following season, barring any new member additions (section 1.2).

1.3.3 Mid-Season Promotion and Relegation

There will be an opportunity for mid-season promotion each year. This will take place at the midpoint of the season. After Gameweek 19 scores are finalized, the top two and bottom two clubs in respective leagues will be automatically promoted and relegated, taking effect immediately. In addition, the third bottom Premier League club and third place Championship club will have a one week head to head matchup to take place in Gameweek 20. The winner of this matchup will be in the Premier League and the loser will be in the Championship for the remainder of the season.

After mid-season promotion and relegation are determined, clubs will keep their season points tally into their new divisions. This means a club being promoted or relegated can immediately join their new league table in any position based on their current score.

2. Cup Competitions

All cup competitions will be orchestrated through the relevant FPL mini-leagues using standard FPL cup rules. Matchups will be randomly decided each gameweek, with first round byes being determined based on clubs' scores the gameweek prior to the first round of the cup.

2.1 RVFA Cup

The RVFA cup will include all RVFA Members across both divisions. The winner of the RVFA Cup will receive a payout (section 3.2.2), as well as a guaranteed place in the RVFA Premier League for the following season.

2.2 RVFA Premier League Cup

The RVFA Premier League Cup will include only members of the Premier League. The winner of the cup will receive a payout (section 3.2.2), but will not be guaranteed a place in the Premier League for the following season.

2.3 RVFA Championship Cup

The RVFA Championship Cup will include only members of the Championship. The winner of the cup will not receive a payout, but will be guaranteed a place in the Premier League for the following season.

3. Financials

3.1 Buy-In

3.1.1 Pre-Season Buy-In

Members of the Premier League will be subject to a $50 buy-in, and members of the Championship will be subject to a $30 buy-in. These must be paid to the chairman prior to the beginning of the season. Failure to pay before the season will incur a penalty of $1 per gameweek deadline that passes.

3.1.2 New Member Club Buy-In

New clubs joining during an ongoing season will have the option to pay the Championship buy-in. If they choose to pay, they will be eligible for all relevant payouts during and after the season. If they choose not to pay, any payout they win will be awarded to the next paying club, but they will still receive any titles and promotions earned.

3.2 Payouts

3.2.1 Manager of the Month

Both the Premier League and Championship will give out manager of the month awards, with both leagues paying half of the Championship buy-in each time ($15). Managers of the month will be determined by a club's total points in that month as shown on the FPL website.

Tiebreakers will be used in order as follows: least chips played (wildcard not included), most goals scored (all players), fewest goals conceded (defenders and goalkeepers only).

3.2.2 Cup Winners

The winner of the RVFA Cup will receive a payout equal to the Premier League buy-in ($50). The winner of the Premier League Cup will receive a payout equal to the Championship buy-in ($30).

3.2.3 End of Season Table Payouts

The pot for the end of season table payouts will consist of the total initial pot, minus the set Manager of the Month and Cup Winner payouts. The buy-in from any new club joining during an ongoing season and choosing to pay will be added to this pot. Championship clubs will not be eligible for a table based payout. After tables are finalized at the end of the season, payouts will be awarded to the top three clubs in the Premier League: 60% for first, 30% for second, and 10% for third.
